Angel City Jazz Festival | September 25 to October 11, 2015

“The Angel City Jazz Festival took its notion of “rethinking jazz” to new heights at the John Anson Ford Amphitheater...It not only celebrates our city’s rich tradition of jazz but also points to its wide-open future.” -LA Times

Angel City Demographics

Angel City attracts Arts & music lovers, creative professionals, urban dwellers, young families and retirees from all walk of life. Our audiences all share a passion for genuine artistic experiences, individual expression and creative freedom. We proud ourselves to cater to a truly diverse demographic spanning most ethnic groups found in LA as well and ranging from 12 to 80+ in age.

The Angel City Jazz Festival is co-produced by Angel City Arts (ACA) and The Jazz Bakery. ACA is a music presenting nonprofit organization committed to cultivating and revitalizing jazz culture in Los Angeles, presents regular live concerts by established and emerging music innovators who have achieved exceptionally high levels of musicianship and brought forward a significant contribution to the evolution of jazz and improvised music. The Jazz Bakery brings a 20 year history of presenting the finest in jazz at their legacy performance space in Culver City. The Bakery is building a new performance center designed by Frank Gehry next door to the Kirk Douglas Theatre in downtown Culver City.
